

Eilat Eilat Renewable Energy Conference

Innovation for decarbonized economy

Dan Hotel Eilat 15-16/12/2021

Though the world is still struggling with the covid-19 plague and its implications, trying to return to an economic and social normality, we believe that it will be feasible to deliver a physical conference by the end of 2021 in Eilat (Israel).

We hope and believe that the 9th Eilat-Eilat conference will take place in December 2021, as we act for a common cause to rebuild a stronger, more sustainable economy.

The Eilat-Eilat conference is one of the world's leading clean energy events, we expect more than 800 leading players from government, business, investors, entrepreneurs, academia, and NGOs will attend. Israel is a world leader in technology innovation and this event is the best venue to meet top Israeli clean energy startups.

The Eilat-Eilat Renewable Energy Initiative stands at the forefront of Israel's implementation of renewable energies. The Eilat-Eilat region has reached 100% renewable energy during day hours and will be 100% energy independent by 2025. The event will also present initiative's efforts to develop the world's first regional macro-grid that will include storage as an alternative to distant electricity transmission.

We value our overseas partners and would be privileged to have you as part of our team of influential leaders.

Please send us your tentative confirmation and we will contact you once we can assure that the event is taking place.

We will gladly assist with any questions or further information.
